CFPB: What's Going on Over There, and What Do We Do About It?

Description: The CFPB continues to reach deeper into more areas using expansive rulemaking and aggressive enforcement. What can we expect out of the Bureau in the future, and what changes should be pursued if the courts or voters provide an opportunity for change? A former CFPB Deputy Director will join our participants for a discussion about the Bureau, and how industry can better position itself for the future.

10:30 AM – 11:00 AM

“Explosive” Look at Lobbying with New Book: The Wolves of K Street

Description: Our speaker is an investigative reporter in the Washington, DC, bureau of The Wall Street Journal, where he covers business, lobbying, and campaign finance. He was part of the team that won the 2023 Pulitzer Prize for Investigative Reporting for revealing financial conflicts of interest among officials at fifty federal agencies who bought and sold stocks of companies they were tasked with regulating. He has joined with a fellow investigative journalist to trace the rise of the modern lobbying industry through the three dynasties—one Republican, two Democratic. Their book, The Wolves of K Street, is “a dazzling and infuriating portrait of fifty years of corporate influence in Washington, and is a masterpiece of narrative nonfiction—irresistibly dramatic, spectacularly timely, explosive in its revelations, and absolutely impossible to put down.”
